Bulgarians In Macedonia Are Met By Strong Forces of the Entente
Nations

LONDON, Aug. 22.—A German battleship of the Nassau class was torpedoed by the British submarine E-23 on Saturday morning, and is believed to have been sunk, the Admiralty announced today. The attack took place in the North Sea. The Admiralty statement follows:

"The submarine E-23, which put in today from a North Sea cruise, reports that on Saturday morning she made a successful torpedo attack upon a German battleship of the Nassau class. The commanding officer, Lieut. Commander Turner, reports that while the battleship was being escorted by five destroyers to her harbor in a damaged condition, he again attacked her with a second torpedo. Lieut. Commander Turner believes she sank."

LONDON, Aug. 22.—British troops are gradually encircling Thiepval, the only German stronghold on the Somme front that has withstood the battering of the allies offensive.

The official communication issued by the war office today announced progress for the British both to the northeast and southeast of Thiepval.

In the sector of Pozieres the British advanced on a half-mile front to the outskirts of Moquet farm.

Along the Pozieres-Miraumont road progress was also made by the English.

The British troops, the official statement said, are now within 1,000 yards of Thiepval, which has been under heavy artillery fire for more than six weeks.

One hundred prisoners were taken in last night's operations.

Thiepval marks the northernmost point at which the British attacked early in July. Afterwards, however, the fighting spread northward past Thiepval to Hebuterne and Commeuourt. Thiepval is seven miles west of Bapaume. Miraumont is three miles northeast of Thiepval and Moquet farm is about a mile to the southeast of the German stronghold.

SALONIKI, Aug. 22.—A strong force of Russian troops was landed here today to fight with the allies against the Austro-German and Bulgarian armies in Macedonia.

There was a great demonstration on the part of the French who marched through the streets singing the Marseillaise and the Russian hymn, and shouting "vive Russia."

It is expected that the Russians will be moved forward immediately to the battle front where violent fighting is in progress over a line 15 miles wide.

There are now troops of eight nationalities aligned against each other in the Macedonian field of operations. On the Teutonic side are the Germans, the Austro-Hungarians. Opposing them is an army of more than 700,000 men composed of British, French, Serbians, Italians and Russians.

While the Bulgarians have continued to gain steadily in their drive on Kavala, they have lost ground on their center where the allied forces are pressing northward along the Struma and Vardar valleys.

On their right wing the Teuton allies are exerting strong pressure against the entente forces in the district around Florina. In that section the Bulgarians advanced southward along the railway leading toward Saloniki from Monastir.

The re-organized Serbian army, under command of the Serbian Crown Prince has been taking a leading part in the operations and was successful in driving the Bulgarians from trench elements on the heights of Kiburuz.

On the center front the Anglo-French forces crossed the Demirhisar-Dedeagatch railway they are at grips with the Bulgarians in the Kapakli mountains northeast of Seres.

COMMITTEE OF EIGHT PREPARES STATEMENT FOR THE COMPANIES

Seeks to Find Common Ground
For Settlement of Nation
Wide Problem

WILSON'S SUMMARY GEM

Chiefs of American Transportation Lines
Give Question Their Most Serious Consideration

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—On the shoulders of eight of the biggest railroad executives in the country was today placed the responsibility for the consideration by the railroads of President Wilson's proposal to avert the threatened railway employees' strike. The big group of railroad presidents delegated to a committee the formulation of the statement of the facts upon which they would consider the impending crisis. The committee was given no authority to formulate a counter proposal to President Wilson or to definitely recommend acceptance or rejection of the president's demands. Headed by Hale Holden, president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, the committee was named, it was announced for "general consideration of the questions involved."

The committee went to work at once, and while the executives generally threshed over various mooted points, the eight men sought to weed out of the situation all irrelevant and unimportant details. They proposed to confine the discussion of the situation by the railroad presidents to the bare essentials and to this end they endeavored to eliminate all collateral questions. The committee will lay before the railroad executives a statement of the conditions which must be met.

In announcing the appointment of the committee, the railroad executives issued the following statement:

"Mr. Hale Holden, president of the Burlington, as spokesman for the railroad executives who are conferring with President Wilson on the railroad wage problem, announced this morning that a committee from the three score executives now in Washington has been named for the general consideration of the questions involved.

"The members of the committee are: Hale Holden, C. B. & Q. W. W. Atterbury, Pennsylvania railroad; Fairfax Harrison, Southern Railway; H. S. Lovett, Union Pacific railroad; E. P. Ripley, Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad; Alfred H. Smith, New York Central; Frank Trumbull, Chesapeake & Ohio railroad; Daniel Willard, Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

"The committee is in continuous session considering the situation, but it is understood that no conclusions have yet been reached."

RAILWAY HEADS STUDY President Wilson's Proposals Give Company Executives Food for Thought.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Responsibility for negotiations looking to the settlement of the strike crisis confronting the railroads of the country today rested exclusively with the big group of railroad executives in conference here. The railway presidents took an intensive study of the final proposal made by President Wilson for them to concede basic eight-hour day in train service in their efforts to find a way out of the tangled situation. There were nearly one hundred representatives in the various conferences and they developed sharp differences of opinion as to the course to be pursued. Meanwhile the brotherhood committee "marked time."

It was apparent at the outset that the railroad executives would not be able to agree to accept President Wilson's proposal without modification as soon as this was determined the executives settled down to formulate a counter proposition, which, while modifying the president's demands to some extent, would meet the spirit of the proposal which has already been accepted by the representatives of the four railroad brotherhoods.

The group of railroad executives led by the "old guard" of railroad-ing was in a fighting mood. They embraced such men as E. P. Ripley, dean of the executives, a 70-year-old veteran of the railroad wars of the days of Harriman and the Goulds, Grim, sour and bitter, the vigorous

THREE ROBBERIES OCCUR LAST NIGHT ALONG SOUTH MAIN

Six Watches, Valued at $600, Taken From Thew
Store Window.

Second-Hand Store is Also Visited by Thieves
After Dark.

The H. C. Thew jewelry store at 618 South Main street was robbed for the second time since the opening of the store several years ago. The thief or thieves who perpetrated the job made way with about $300 in watches. It is believed that they were frightened away from the window through which they had thrown the brick, as a large quantity of valuable jewelry and precious stones remained in easy reach of the hole through the plate glass.

Police are of the opinion that the same thieves who pulled the robbery at the jewelry store also broke in the DeVinney second hand store and the building occupied by the Frank Calder Monument company, last night. The two places of business are within a stones throw of each other.

From indications it is evident that the monument company building was the first to be entered. Here they obtained tools which were used to enter the second hand store. On entering the latter place by forcing a door, they exchanged their old wearing apparel for a complete new outfit. They left their old clothes and the tools in the store.

None of the robberies were reported to the police department until this morning. A passerby notified the department about 6 o'clock this morning of the broken window in the jewelry store. The proprietor of the store was immediately notified and on checking over his goods in the window he reported the loss of six valuable railroad watches.

The brick which had been thrown through the glass was found in the window on the arrival of police on the scene. No attempt had been made to destroy the sound of the breaking glass, as no cloth had been wrapped around the missile. Instead of being thrown through the window facing on the street it was directed at the window facing south.

A lady living on the opposite side of the street from the store stated today to a representative of the Times-Democrat that she saw a man take off his shoes in front of the store from her bedroom window, but thinking nothing of it, immediately afterward went to sleep.

Mrs. Parmello Gardio, who resides at 622 1/2 South Main street, stated that she heard the sound of breaking glass, but did not make any investigation. According to her story

MULTI-MILLIONAIRE DIES.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 22.—Col. James Gay Butler, multi-millionaire philanthropist, died at his home here early today. He was 76 years old. Death followed an operation six weeks ago. Col. Butler was heavily interested in the tobacco industry, being one of the pioneers in the St. Louis market.

WARREN—After an all-night auto chase climaxed by a running revolver duel, a posse of officers and citizens early today captured two auto bandits, who said they lived in Bluefield, W. Va.

HOTEL ROBBED OF $1012 IN 4 MINUTES

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 22.—While the clerk at Hotel Oberstedt, Cleveland's newest hotel, was absent from his cage for four minutes just after daylight today, a thief got away with two cash boxes containing $1,012. C. W. Burman, the clerk, was in the restaurant taking a reading of the cash register at the time. The telephone operator was not on duty and the bell boys were in other parts of the building.

ICE CREAM CONES TOMORROW MAYBE!

Fair and Cooler, Says the Weatherman, but Don't Blame Us.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 22.—While the entire state today was sweltering, the federal weather bureau gave out the welcome news that drops of from 7 to 16 degrees may be expected at different points within the state in the next 24 hours. "Fair and cooler" was the official prediction. Some Ohio points will enjoy a maximum of 80 degrees tomorrow as against 98 today. With an absence of rain throughout the state, today's temperatures ranged from 96 to 103. This is one degree lower than yesterday's figures. At five Ohio cities yesterday the temperature exceeded 99 degrees. At Granville and Norwalk it reached 104. Findlay 102; Bucyrus and Somerset 100.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 22.—Indications were that the summer heat mark of 104, reached yesterday, would be topped today as the day started off two degrees hotter than yesterday. Health officials feared the death list would be larger than the toll of twelve taken yesterday, as the crippling of the largest ice plant in the city left hundreds of homes without ice.

TOLEDO, Aug. 22.—Serious ice famine is threatened today for this city. Local ice companies with big storage plants on Michigan lakes report their stocks practically depleted. Companies began curtailing the output today, many households getting only half their usual allotment. Temperature continues high.

STUEBENVILLE, O., Aug. 22.—Mrs. Fannie Gilkinson, 47, wife of Elmer J. Gilkinson, Reeds Mills, Ohio, prominent state grange organizer, was killed while in sight of her home today when her horse ran off, upset the buggy and threw her against the railroad station. She sustained compound fracture of the skull. The horse became frightened at a train.

PTOMAIN POISONING.

NAPOLION, O., Aug. 22.—Mr. and Mrs. Meri Varnell are in a serious condition today as a result of ptomaine poisoning. Both ate canned salmon last night and efforts of physicians later to aid them have been fruitless.

old Santa Fe president formed the center of a group who insisted that the time had come to fight to determine who is to run the railroads of the country. They were for an out and out refusal of any settlement which did not put all of the demands of the men in the hands of an impartial board of arbitration.

On the other hand, a small group of "pacifists" favored accepting the president's demands as they stand and depending on time to show the futility of an attempt to force an eight-hour day in train service. They proposed that the railroads agree to the president's proposals, and then demonstrate that the plan would not work. This group gained strength as the conference proceeded.

One counter proposition which met with some favor with the executives would call upon the president to give definite assurance that after the railroads agree to accept the 8-hour day there would be forthcoming a legal bona fide government agency to determine the collateral question in dispute. The president's proposal simply sets forth that he will seek a commission from congress for this work, but the executives want some more definite promise.

Both pacifists and belligerents of the executives were in favor of this plan if nothing further could be secured.

While the railroad executives confer over the situation administration circles are confident that the president's proposals will ultimately bring peace. They declare the executives cannot afford to accept the responsibility for a nation-wide strike, and that eventually they will agree to the president's proposal.

British Submarine Sinks Battleship

German trench at Estrees, the war office announced today in its official communiqué.

North of the river, the French attacked at Clercy on the Comblé-Peronne highway, making further progress.

There was excessive artillery activity all along the front, with the French shelling the German trenches and the Germans dropping curtains of fire in an effort to forestall a French infantry attack. The latest infantry engagements by the French on the Somme show an absence of frontal pressure against Peronne, their objective. The two assaults mentioned in today's communiqué were directed against the German defenders of Peronne from the north and from the southwest.

Field Marshal von Mackensen, who was recently reported by French army officers to be directing German operations on the western front, is now reported to be in supreme command in the Balkans.

In the view of military critics the reported presence of Field Marshal von Mackensen in Macedonia is worthy of credence. It was he who directed the operations of the Teutons and Bulgarians on the great drive that conquered Serbia, so he is familiar with the ground and the conditions prevailing there. Von Mackensen has never fought on the western front so far as known. Victory in the Balkans is essential to the central powers if they are not to be cut off from their ally, Turkey, and consequently the Kaiser would naturally select one of his most brilliant generals in supreme command there.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 22.—There is no change in the positions on the western front—the Russian theatre of war—the war office announced today.

In both Armenia and Persia the Russians are advancing, driving the Turks before them, the official communication says.

West of Lake Van, a whole company of the 17th Turkish regiment was captured.

The official report follows: "Western Front—The situation is unchanged.

"Caucasus Front—Fighting north of Diarbekr resulted favorably for us. We advanced west of Lake Van, capturing a company of the 17th Turkish regiment. West of the eastern Euphrates we captured ten officers, a doctor, 215 men, four machine guns and three field pieces.

"Persian Front—We defeated Turkish cavalry at Uchuu. The enemy was driven back toward the west near Kalapassova."

In view of the absence of official information on operations in Volhynia and Galicia it is assumed that a temporary deadlock has existed. Unofficial dispatches, however, state that the Russians are still delivering powerful attacks along the Stokhod river and in the Carpathians.

Announcement of the entrance of Russian forces into Hungary through Rodna and Jabinitza passes is expected very soon.

BULGARS IN MACEDONIA.

Sofia Reports Repulse of Allies in Vardar Valley.

SOFIA, (via Berlin wireless) Aug. 22.—Official announcement of the occupation of Demirhisar in Greek Macedonia was made today by the Bulgarian war office.

The left wing of the Bulgarian forces has begun a general offensive. On their right wing the Bulgarian column which captured Florina has pushed forward 15 miles occupy Ekchisou.

In the Vardar valley, the statement says, Anglo-French attacks lasting for ten days were all repulsed.

The official communication which is dated August 20 follows: "On account of the activities of the entente forces in the Vardar valley extending east of Struma and north of Tachimo Lake, our left wing began a general offensive on August 18. The Bulgarian troops advanced in Struma valley and occupied Demirhisar. After an engagement near Seres, we repulsed the Anglo-French forces on the right bank of the Struma and occupied the left bank between Butkova and Tachimo Lake. Following out our plans detachments are advancing between the Struma and the Mesta. In the Vardar valley the English and French have been attacking our advanced positions for ten days without any success.

THREE ROBBERIES OCCUR LAST NIGHT ALONG SOUTH MAIN

It is evident that the deed was committed about 1:05 o'clock this morning, as she noticed the time when she was awakened by the crash.

The Thew store was robbed a year ago last December, just before Christmas. Three men entered the store just before the proprietor was closing the business place for the day. Asking him to hold up his hands they made way with about $700 in jewelry and precious stones.

Despite the large crowd around the corner of Main and Kibby streets at the time the deed was perpetrated, the robbers escaped the dragnet thrown out by the police department shortly afterward and escaped to St. Marys, where they were captured by a brakeman on the L. E. & W. railroad. When they asked him for a ride in that city he immediately saw that they answered the description of the three wanted for the robbery in Lima. He locked the door of the car they were in and summoned the police.

One of the men was Charles Day and another was known as "Big Mack", both of them desperate characters. All three of the men were sent to the Ohio state penitentiary. Day was later sent to the Lima insane institution from where he escaped, later on.

A careful search of the city was instituted today by Police Chief McKinney in hope that the thief or thieves were still in the city. Officials of surrounding towns have been notified of the robbery, but owing to the lack of details police are of the opinion that difficulty will be experienced in capturing them.

MAY GIVE OHIO NEW HOME FOR THE AGED

Jr. O. U. A. M. Convention Discusses Plan for National Institution.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 22.—Five hundred delegates and visitors are expected when the fourth annual session of the state council, Junior Order United American Mechanics, opens at The Hollenden.

Floyd E. Waite, Secretary to Public Service Director Alex. Bernstein, will deliver the address of welcome on behalf of Mayor Harry L. Davis, who is out of the city. The response will be given by State Councillor O. T. Patterson, of Bellefontaine. The reports of the officers will show a prosperous year for the order, there being an increase in members of about 2,500. The membership in the state now exceeds 45,000.

The sessions will last two days. There will be a detailed report from the National Orphans' Home, maintained by the order at Tiffin, where 402 orphans of former members are being educated and fitted for life.

During the last year there has been completed there a new public school building costing $46,000, which will be opened this fall. One of the interesting contents of the gathering will be the selection of four delegates to the national council that meets next spring at Asheville, N. C. The race for these positions is very lively and many are seeking the distinction.

National Councillor C. B. Webb, of Statesville, N. C., and National Vice Councillor John H. Noyes, of Conway, N. H., will make addresses.

Jack Arnold, lieutenant governor of Ohio, sent word last evening he would arrive this morning to attend the gathering.

The remarkable success of the National Orphans' Home at Tiffin, and the eagerness of the members all over the land to help in its support, has given rise to a demand that another home be established for the old and disabled members of the order.

Ohio has shown an active sentiment in support of this idea and members here last evening said it was quite probable the movement would be put under way at the national meeting next spring at Asheville. Ohio would have an excellent chance to get the old members' home in addition to the orphan's home because of the large membership in the state and the interest manifested in the organization.

NEW YORK—Fifteen thousand harbors threatened today to quit scraping faces and snipping locks tomorrow at noon unless their demands for $13 per week minimum wages and shorter hours were granted.

KNIGHTS TEMPLARS CONCLAVE TO MEET IN TIFFIN, OCT. 12

TIFFIN, O., Aug. 22.—The eyes of every Knight Templar in Ohio will be turned toward Tiffin on October 11 and 12. The grand commandery, Knights Templars, of Ohio, will meet here then for the seventy-fourth annual convocation.

Extensive preparations have been under way for the entertainment of 10,000 visitors. A big Templar parade will be participated in by thousands of Knights Templars. The parade will be held October 11.

This event will signal the opening of the convocation. At least 5,000 Knights in uniform will take part. It is planned to make the parade a pageant of more than ordinary beauty. Thirty commanderies will march as commanderies. There will be 20 bands in line.

After the parade, which will take in the most important streets of the city, the Knights and bands will be massed and will pass in review before the grand commandery officers.

A court of honor to be erected on the public square will take the place of a reviewing stand. A triumphal Templar arch will be erected and the streets will be illuminated with thousands of electric lights.

Social activities attendant upon the convocation will center around the grand ball. The ball, open to every Templar in uniform, will be held in the ball room of the new Maroonie Temple. A reception will be held at the same time in the Temple reception hall.

DeMolay Commandery, No. 9, will entertain officers of the Grand Commandery and distinguished visitors at the Elks' club, Wednesday evening. At the same hour, past grand commanders will be entertained at dinner at the Shawhan.

The Grand Commandery sessions will open Thursday morning. A buffet lunch will be served at the Temple, as long as the sessions continue. The visiting ladies will be given an auto trip that day and will be guests at dinner at one of the country clubs. Local committees have arranged a program of interest to all visitors during the convocation.

Nearly all of the commanderies of northwestern Ohio have already made arrangements for accommodations during the convocation. The Dayton Commandery which will have several hundred Knights in the parade and will be accompanied by a Templar band. Many distinguished Templar officers will be present at the convocation. Grand Commandery officers of Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Pennsylvania expect to attend. Many Grand Encampment officers will be in attendance.

Tiffin will welcome the Templar host with open-hearted hospitality. Visitors will be made to feel the hospitality of the city to the utmost.

ST. JOHN'S PARISH TO BENEFIT FROM CARNIVAL

Wednesday and Thursday evening the Catholic Order of Foresters will hold a carnival on the St. Johns parochial lawn, which is between the school house and the parochial dwelling. The proceeds will go to the parish.

Some of the things of interest will be a trained animal show, a duck pond, a fish pond, Kagoland, Wall street, and many other things too numerous to mention that go to make up a carnival. Soft drinks, hot lunch stands and ice cream stands will also be in evidence.

Nothing has been neglected to make this a successful undertaking.

INFANT DIES.

The body was removed to the Eckert mortuary. Funeral services will be held tomorrow in Allentown, at a place not yet set. Burial will be in Allentown.

ALLEN CO. TEACHERS HEAR LECTURES AS MERCURY MOUNTS

Despite the excessive heat that made attention to all that instructors said well-nigh impossible, school teachers of Allen county today listened intently to the interesting program, which marked the annual institute of Allen county pedagogues. Instructors who spoke today were Supt. C. A. Arganbright, in charge of the county schools; R. I. Cole of Kalamazoo, Mich., and Supt. F. E. Kirkendall of Greenville.

In all the talks the one thread of interest followed out was information and knowledge which the teachers could make direct use of in the school room, when in a few weeks, they get down to active service. And this knowledge was present in great quantities yesterday and today, as each instructor finished his work.

At the third day's session, to be held tomorrow, "Arithmetic in the Third and Fourth Grades" will be taken up by Superintendent Kirkendall and Superintendent Arganbright will talk on "Moral Education—How the School Can and Does Teach It". Superintendent Arganbright will continue his talk on "Arithmetic".

The institute will close close on Thursday afternoon.

A Sensible Cigarette

Comfortable—that's why they're sensible.

As you've probably noticed, it is the keen, active-minded type of man who is particular to choose Fatimas. If you were smoking Fatimas, you would know why. You would find that Fatimas, more than any other cigarette, are comfortable while you smoke and after you smoke them.

Their delicately balanced Turkish blend makes them a sensible cigarette to smoke. Why not prove this for yourself?

PENNSY'S RECORD IS REMARKABLE ONE

Carries 433,952,298 Passengers Ten Billion Miles in Safety.

Another half-year has been added to the Pennsylvania railroad system's record for the safe transportation of passengers. In the first six months of 1916 a total of 92,380,184 people were carried over the lines east and west of Pittsburgh without loss of the life of a single one of them in a train accident.

The passing of the first half of 1916 completes two and one-half consecutive years in which no passenger has been killed on any part of the Pennsylvania railroad system in a train accident.

In that time 453,952,298 passengers have been safely carried, in more than 3,600,000 trains, for a total distance of over 10 billions of miles, or 400,000 times around the world.

Including the freights, upward of 7,500,000 trains were operated, day and night, over 12,000 miles on line and 26,000 miles of track, while these passengers were being carried in safety.

On the lines of the Pennsylvania railroad east of Pittsburgh no passenger has been killed in a train accident for more than three and one-half years, and 396,000,000 people have been carried in safety over these lines alone, during that period.

ENGINEERS WILL LOCATE CITY SWITCH

Will Mean Saving of Money Each Year to the City.

Engineers of the D. T. & I. railroad and a representative of the Clark Pratt Engineer company of Toledo will hold a meeting tomorrow, at the city building and decide on the final location of the switch that is to be constructed from the railroad to the pump station on East High street.

According to the estimate of Service Director Al Metheny, the construction of the switch will mean the saving of thousands of dollars a year to the city. It will mean the saving of 50 cents on each ton of coal. As the city uses about $5,000 at the water works plant annually. They will not only save the cost of cartage, but can purchase direct from the mines.

WHITLEY HAS NEW INVALID CAR IN SERVICE IN LIMA

The new ambulance of the Floyd D. Whitley company is now completed and ready for use. It is one of the most up-to-date invalid cars traveling the streets of Lima today.

The ambulance is of battleship gray, built on a sixty horse-power Mitchell motor of the 1915 model. It is equipped with railroad signals, the red light being to the left of the car and the green to the right.

A cross, done in purple and surrounded by gold, the new insignia of the National Undertakers' association, is upon the glass windows in the ambulance. Across the driver's window, on either side, is the word "Whitley" in gold letters.

The trimmings on the inside are of purple and gold and the ambulance is mahogany finished on the interior. It is built especially for quick service.

Mr. Whitley says that after his wide experience in the undertaking business, he built the car to serve rich and poor alike and equipped it with the necessary things to make fast trips and get his patrons to the hospital or medical aid as soon as human hands and safe equipment could so do.

The new motor ambulance is at the service of the people by calling Main 1814, either day or night. It has already appeared upon the streets, where it has been viewed by many people.

TELEPHONE POLE AND TREE KNOCKED OVER BY TRAILER

A tree and a telephone pole were knocked down last night near the switch on West Market street, between Jameson avenue and Cole street, when the trailer attached to the rear of a Western Ohio railway freight train jumped the track.

As the accident occurred after midnight, traffic was not blocked. However, it was necessary for the wreck car to come to the assistance of the trailer and place it on the track again. Outside the damage to the tree and pole which was struck by the car, little damage was done.

This morning at 6 o'clock a Main and Kibby street car split the switch on West Kibby street near Broadway and was delayed for 15 minutes before getting back on the track again.

SANDLES AND MACK

A cue to the probable location of the peace dove in state politics is easy to find in the aftermath of the recent primaries, for both Cox and Willis had opposition, the "second" candidates getting fairly large crops of votes. It is in the attitudes of Sandles and Mack that we must seek for enlightenment. Shaw and Martin may be eliminated from consideration.

Cox received 135,583 votes, with Sandles trailing at 35,971, and Martin at 16,789. The majority of the Democrats who voted for "Put" Sandles did so because of his pleasing personality and the fact that he has never failed to make good on any job. The element which did so to avoid voting for Cox is small. "Put's" name came last on the ballot, and the majority of those desiring to scratch the former governor put the x before the name of Martin. Yet the latter drew less than half of the number cast for the Ottawa man. And after being defeated for the nomination Sandles will support Cox.

Willis received 241,965, Mack 22,964 and Shaw 17,819. The latter may be compared to Martin and therefore drop out as an almost negligible factor. While the Republicans has a much larger turnout for the state ticket than did the Democrats—more than 100,000 more voting—that fact may be ascribed to the presence on the ticket of the Herrick-Daugherty scrap, the only one in the state worth mentioning. The Democratic state ticket had nothing comparable to the senatorial race, where personalities and machine methods were employed with little regard for public opinion.

On the Republican side the entire strength of the party in the state was thrown to save Willis from getting a black eye in the form of a large minority vote registered against him. While the organization backed Daugherty and therefore got a throwdown by about three to one, for entering into a free fight, the same force was at work to hold down the Mack vote and get out all the Willis adherents. The Herrick-Daugherty was not the proper place for organization interference, but Willis was up for a second term. Yet despite the full strength of the Ohio G. O. P. Mack drew almost 23,000 dry voters from Willis, the alleged dry who was elected on a wet deal. And Mack will buck Willis on an independent ticket.

Cox has the support of Sandles and his opponents in his own party. Willis has the opposition of Mack and his opponents in his own party. The Daugherty adherents are "yelled" over the Herrick landslide and are ready to knife the Cleveland banker. The Lentz crowd will be unable to harm Pomerene because Atlee is a Democrat and the great majority of the Lentz voters are not Democrats—simply Garber Glues. They always were bolters of the type that knifes the victor.

So it isn't hard to locate the peace dove. The bird doesn't dare to light in Republican circles, but the Democrats are prepared to entertain it. And the Cox-Willis-Mack vote this fall will find Cox getting more than Willis and Mack combined.

A CHRONIC RUNNER

Reports from New York indicate that William Randolph Hearst contemplates running for the United States senatorship on the independent ticket as the candidate of his own personally-financed Independence League. That's just about like him.

William has been defeated for everything else, so why not the senatorship as well? He was in congress one term fifteen years ago or more, representing a district in Greater New York. He is said to have answered only fourteen roll calls during the two years. In 1905 he ran for mayor against George Brinton McClellan. His strength was just great enough to defeat the Tammany ticket and elect a Republican. The next year Hearst used his independent organization as a club and threatened Murphy with state-wide defeat. Tammany took the tip and nominated Hearst. That made possible the election of Hughes.

Getting licked for such paltry jobs as mayor of the metropolis and governor of the Empire state soon lost its thrill as far as Willie was concerned. In 1908 he went after big game, running for the presidency. He failed to get a nomination, so he ran Thomas L. Hisgen as a substitute, and John Temple Graves, editor of one of Hearst's southern papers, as a running mate. The Independence League was floated, financed and engineered by Hearst. They polled a little more than $2,000 out of the 15,000,000 votes cast that year.

Now it's the senate Hearst wants to grace. He had thought of running for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, but Judge Searbury beat him to it. So the senatorial toga is all that's left. He'll probably run and if he does he'll certainly get defeated. The public knows him too well to give him anything requiring responsibility. But his case goes to show the invulnerability of the candidacy germ. Once let a man get a taste of public life and he'll run for everything that comes along afterward, if his friends and income permit. A chronic candidate is a pathetic, but nevertheless an eternal, rebuke to the fools.

Peace, prosperity and preparedness—a condition that no Republican candidate can successfully attack.

"A vote for Hughes is a vote for me."—T. R. For "me"? For what? He continues to talk in the terms of a man who wants the job.

GOOD EVENING: If ice goes up while the railroad strike is on, think how that combination will hit the man who runs a cafe.

PUBLIC FORUM

REPUBLICAN-WALL STREET ALLIANCE

To the Editor of The Times-Democrat:

At Portland, Oregon, Candidate Hughes said:
 "The man who tries to get the better of the public for his private purse is a traitor to the government. We will go ahead and put these traitors out of business."

Four years ago Mr. Roosevelt had much to say about "the malefactors of great wealth." Mr. Hughes now also seems to have a spasm of virtue, but he has never, so far as may be gathered from his political record, rebuked the leaders of his party for doing the things which he now denounces as treason. Roosevelt organized the progressive party to defeat Taft in 1912 because, as he alleged, the then president stole the Oyster Bay man's delegates to the national convention. Now he and his guardian rival—who was supported by the so-called "malefactors"—rest under the same political cover. There is no assurance that Mr. Hughes may not make the men whom he now denounces, like Col. Roosevelt, his political bed-fellows.

Republican leaders and editors tell us that there is much that was done by the present administration that its friends would like to forget. There was much done under republican administrations that merits the severest condemnation. The republican party's alliance with Wall Street will be remembered as a most shameful prostitution of governmental powers. For many years financial panics occurred periodically in New York. The secretary of the treasury would promptly send the interest on the national debt to be disbursed by the banks long before due, thus enabling unscrupulous financiers to compound their interest.

Under republican administrations a new diplomatic system was installed known as Dollar Diplomacy. The bankers of New York formed a financial syndicate to loan to small weak governments large sums of money, the payment of which was guaranteed by the United States. If payment was not made, or the claim adjusted to the satisfaction of the lenders this government sent a warship to a port of the debtor country, landed marines and took possession of the customs houses collecting the money from import duties to pay the claim. The United States thus became the agent to enforce payment of the debt.

After president Wilson was inaugurated one of his first official acts was to abolish this nefarious practice. "Traitors" will no doubt desire to renew the republican-Wall Street alliance if Mr. Hughes is elected.

HEALTHHINTS

ANCIENT ILL STILL IS MYSTIFYING.

Diabetes has been known since ancient times.

It is a disease in which the body is unable to properly store and utilize starches and sugars.

In the process of digestion these substances are converted into glucose and taken into the blood stream to be stored for the most part in the muscles and liver.

For reasons which are at best but partly understood these substances are not properly stored in the system of a person suffering from diabetes. They are retained in the blood in excessive amounts and then forced to be excreted by the kidneys.

In order that the sugar be not passed off in too concentrated a solution large quantities of water must be excreted with it.

The result is that large amounts of water are taken from the body tissues causing an almost insatiable thirst.

In addition to thirst there is an abnormal appetite which is partially due to the fact that a considerable amount of the food that the patient takes is wasted.

Often the skin becomes rough and dry. Boils and carbuncles are likely to develop.

Persons suffering from diabetes, especially if they let the disease go untreated are especially liable to contract tuberculosis and neuritis.

Cataract in one or both eyes is a fairly frequent complication of diabetes in the young as well as in the old.

THE OTHER BOSTON.

It is hard to conceive of our Boston as the child and off-spring of anything or any place else—she is such a self-contained and self-sufficient personage. None the less, in your wanderings about England, that land so full of echoes of familiar names without the "New"—York, Jersey, Bedford, and a hundred others—you may hear the guard shout "Boston" and fare forth to greet the ancestress of the centre of American erudition.

Old Boston is rich in things interesting to an American. Apparently half of our famous ancestors and pioneers came from here or hereabouts. Boston herself is apparently unconscious of the prestige she gains by being the mother of so many children whose descendants are entitled to belong to societies and wear badges in the United States of America. She goes about her daily life with a quiet serenity that gives a very definite impression of power in reserve; so that you feel that were there any new continents left to be settled and any aristocratic families left to be founded, Boston could again supply her share of the pioneers.

A pleasant river called the Witham washes along through Boston, kept in its proper place and station by a stone retaining wall. The Witham, the central market-place, and the church of St. Botolph's are the things that you will remember longest. The market-place shows you good-natured easy life of today, its wide cobbled space dotted with awninged booths, and the good gray stone houses looking benignly down upon it; the church speaks of the

OWN

And You Will Also Control

BUT WHY GO TO THE EXPENSE OF OWNING WHAT YOU CONTROL ALREADY?

Possession is not essential to the power of exercising control.

As long as you are able to manage a thing, why possess?

What do you care who owns a thing as long as you have the dominating influence in the management?

Petitions are in circulation whereby opponents of the local telephone plant hope to secure an election on the question of making it a city-owned institution. Backers of the idea aver that the scheme will work wonders in the system, giving to the people control of the means of communication. But stop and think—

They have it already. They control it through various legal provisions, such as the public utilities commission. Do you know that a company cannot make a rate, extend the system, increase the capitalization, alter the plan of bookkeeping or do similar things without the sanction of the state commission? That's the extent to which the public utility companies are limited by the public at large.

If Lima residents already have virtual control of a public utility, what reason have they to invest good money and get that useless thing, ownership? What's the use of buying something which you run without buying?

Municipal ownership means the substitution of men appointed by politics for men appointed because of special training. The expert in technical matters is replaced by the party worker. And how long will delicate mechanism and intricate machinery stand up under the tinkering of amateurs?

LIFE

"LIFE IS A SOLEMN thing," read not long ago in an article. "Life is a solemn thing." "Really," I said to myself. Immediately I began to see a dull, bleak day, with a life full of whys and wherefores, everywhere responsibilities, slow and noiseless steps, as a librarian walks with rubber heels, and everywhere huge signs bearing the word "Silence" and not even a white butterfly for glee.

Such was the mental picture I had when I read those lines "Life is a solemn thing."

"Why, Oh, why does it have to be solemn, instead of joyous? Why is it a task instead of a pleasure? Why is it a duty, instead of a voluntary action of love?"

Perhaps if I could answer those things for you, or you could answer them for me, we would have solved the mystery of the ages. Yet we cannot really answer them, can we?

Someone said, I think it was Paul Lawrence Dunbar, "Life is a burden, bear it; Life is a duty, dare it; Life is a thorn-crown, wear it," and so on. Always a burden, a duty, a sorrow, a tear. Never the pleasure, the happiness on sunlight, the laugh, the smile, the dance of the soul.

And yet have you ever stopped to think that in this present day and age the physicians and learned scientists are advocating sunlight and fresh air for the cure of disease, perhaps better, the prevention of disease? No more the musty parlor, the drawn window shades, the shut windows.

Why not let the sunshine filter into our hearts and souls. Let it come out on a song of gladness, the joy of living, the pleasure of fulfilling a divine expectation.

We shirk life when we fail to be glad and happy, we are not responsible if we are solemn, weighted down with the awful meaning of life, instead of being joyful in its promise.

The real duty of life is happiness, not solemnity, in its task, duty-to-be-performed sense; and real happiness is the mother of all good. It is the fresh air, the exercise, the sunlight of the soul, that meets all obligations, responsibilities, duties, tasks, and all their kindred spirits, and disposes of them rightly with smiles and good will.

A green and silent spot amid the hills.
A small and silent dell; O'er still space
No singing skylark ever poised himself.
The hills are healthy, save that swelling slope,
Which hath a gay and gorgeous covering on.
All golden with the never bloomless furze
Which now blooms most profusely; but the dell,
Bathed by the mist, is fresh and delicate
A vernal corn field, or the unripe flax,
When, through its half-transparent stalks, at eve
The level sunshine glimmers with green light. —Coleridge.

MRS. WALSTON HILL BROWN
—CHILD WELFARE LEAGUE

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—As a result of the conference of Yoshe Botwin, who has been made one of the workings of the white slave traffic in New York, Mrs. Walston Hill Brown, president of the International Child Welfare league, has taken steps toward the formation of a permanent committee on morals, to safeguard young girls in New York.

Mrs. Brown says: "The confession of the creature Botwin, with corroborating evidence, calls for prompt action in saving the young girls of New York. I believe heartily with Miss Luther, of the Florence Crittenton Home, that there is a need for personal effort in behalf of our fallen sisters."

"I am in hopes that women of the Child Welfare league, together with such others as will volunteer, will take this work in hand."

"A permanent committee working with Miss Luther, Miss Smith, the chief probationary officer of the night court, and possibly with Miss Helen Todd, of the Child Welfare league—and working under their direction, giving systematic and persistent effort—would be able to accomplish real results."

"The start this work going I have called for a special meeting of the Single Standard of Morals committee of the Child Welfare league. Out of this meeting I hope there will grow a definite plan for redeeming these unfortunate girls."

FINANCIAL WIZARD DIES.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Patrick A. Valentine, who through his business sagacity gained the sobriquet in New York and Chicago financial circles of a "financial wizard," is dead today at his summer home at Oconomowoc, Wisconsin. He died late last night of a bright disease after a several months' illness. Valentine for years had been connected with the Armour interests. Starting as a poor immigrant boy he made a fortune in grain speculation, but subsequently lost it. He then became connected with the Armour and in 1903 married the widow of P. D. Armour, who survives him.

A GOOD THING FOR CHILDREN.
Foley's Honey and Tar is a particularly good cold, cough and croup medicine for children because it contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs. The "little coids" of summer, as well as the long standing, deep seated coughs, that hang on for months, are banished by its use. The first dose brings relief and comfort. It is a Vorkamp.

INDIANA WARDEN TRIES TO LEASE PRISON FARM.

LAPORTE, Ind., Aug. 22.—Edward J. Fogarty, "Big Bill," warden of the state prison at Michigan City, is tired of seeing "his boys" cooped up within prison walls working in a binder twine plant or breaking stone. He wants to give them a chance to get out in the open, where sunlight and more freedom will be theirs. The state has no money to buy a prison farm, but Fogarty is negotiating for the lease of 2,500 acres of land near Michigan City for farming purposes. He proposes to make it a model farm with experts directing the work of the convicts.

LABOR GROUP WINS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Congressmen allied with the "labor group" today triumphed in a fight which was carried to the White House to secure the release of George H. Audreychine, an Iron worker, of Hibbing, Minn., who was threatened with deportation to Bulgaria after being arrested during the big strike of the Mesaba mine workers. Secretary of Labor Wilson today ordered the cancellation of the deportation warrant.

CLEVELAND—Mrs. Bessie Martin, 25, quarreled with her husband and took poison. She will recover.

CONDUCT G. O. P. SCHOOL FOR INDIANA ARTTILERS.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 22.—There is no reason why Indiana should not rebound with oratory in the fall campaign. Not only have both republican and democratic campaign managers secured much talent from official Washington, but the republican state committee brought Leslie M. Shaw, one of the party's oldest and most reliable speakers, to conduct a "school" for native campaign speakers. Shaw instructed them in treating national issues, and James P. Goodrich, republican candidate for governor, lectured them on handling state issues.

Amusements

THE FAUROT'S PICTURES.

The change of program at the Faurot opera house today brings to that theatre the exquisite artist, Marie Doro, who will be seen in the Lasky production of "Common Ground," a photoplay written especially for Miss Doro by the eminent dramatist, Marian Fairfax. As "The Kid," a product of the status Miss Doro hits a new note in the gamut of her histrionic achievement. It will strike some of her thousands of admirers with dismay to see the dainty actress as an expert in a paper flower factory, but through the pretty romance evolved in "Common Ground" they will eventually delight in her transition to her accustomed plane of grace and beauty.

Miss Doro's support in this engaging play includes such favorite Lasky players as Theodore Roberts, Thomas Meighan, Mary Mersch, H. B. Carpenter, Florence Smythe and Mrs. Lewis McCord. The program also includes a new Burton Holmes Travelpicture, "Picturesque Prague," and the second bi-weekly edition of the Pathe Weekly.

AT DREAMLAND.

The appearance of Crane Wilbur, the popular movie star, is always hailed with delight by movie patrons, and his presentation today of one of his own scenarios at Dreamland in "For Her Good Name" will no doubt draw capacity houses. Wilbur is seen in the role of a society gambler, mentally and physically apower among men and honorable to a thought when dealing with women. While visiting the "House of the Mask" he becomes interested in the actions of a society adventurer towards a wealthy woman whose only weakness is the gambling table. When this man insults the woman, the gambler interferes and in the struggle the man is killed. Then begins a battle of wits between the gambler and a criminal investigator. The gambler, desiring to protect the woman's name, uses unlooked for means of shielding her. The films tell the story. In addition to this is the western two-reel feature entitled "The Golden Trail," with Richard Stanton playing the lead.

AT THE STRAND.

Ed Coxon and Lizette Thorne play the leads at The Strand today in the first run American two-reel feature "The Dreamers," which is a thrilling rural romantic drama. While a wealthy young clubman is motoring through the country, his machine breaks down and he is forced to stay at a farm house over night. The next morning he meets "the girl of his dream" and when the clubman protects the girl from the insults of one of the hands, the girl thinks more of him than ever. The manner in which this young fellow succeeded in securing for the girl her rightful ownership of an estate and the reward which he received form interesting movies. Besides this is exhibited

MARRYING A BUTTERFLY

By MRS. EVA LEONARD Y

YOU ARE no fool. That is, Ralph always said I would be something lovely to work for. If I made his life happy I thought I was doing what a woman was made to do, but it was all a mistake. He does not love me any more. She showed signs of weeping.

"You spoil your husband's life. He can not help loving you and so is made a slave to your pettiness. He is checked in every great effort. All toils are for things that have no part in real life. His life is stunted to match your littleness."

"Ethel was sobbing out her humiliation over this terrible arrangement into her filmy handkerchief. 'I'll never go back to him. I will cease to spoil his life. He is a grand man and must do big things in life.' The words came between sobs."

"There, there, child, none of that." The old lady's voice was almost kind. "You never had a chance in life; never a bit of education. Now that you—"

Ethel lowered her handkerchief and a flicker of a smile crossed her face as she said: "Oh, yes I did. I graduated from Mrs. Bayers' finishing school."

"Humph!" Mrs. Morton gave a mild snort. "That may have given you schooling, though I doubt it, but schooling is not education. Education is a preparation for life and you have no preparation."

"And I am twenty-two years old," said Ethel, dismally.

"If you were forty-two I would not count if you were awake and ready to learn." Mrs. Morton took the useless white hands in her own. "We'll teach these hands to do things in the world, and we'll teach the head to think. What do you say?"

"Oh, Mrs. Morton! Will you help me to learn to be a good wife to Ralph?"

"We'll begin right away." The old lady patted the hand she held and smiled down into the tearful face looking up into her own.

the two-reel Gaumont western production "The Man and the Law" with Norbert Myles playing the leading role and proving that sometimes "right is right." The Strand is always cool, so this is a good time to see the movies and escape the heat of the streets.

AT THE ROYAL.

Whenever the announcement is made that a Bluebird is coming to town, the public has learned that the name is coupled with the best in features. Not necessarily the best in salacious photoplays, but the best in what is elevating and clean. Today Harry Carey plays the heavy in the Bluebird attraction at the Royal. This is the story; and which many read in the Saturday Evening Post a short time ago. The wind blew the sands of the great Mojave Desert in great clouds. The storm profited three bank robbers who were escaping a sheriff's posse, but it brought disaster to a prospector who was passing over the desert in a primitive "prairie schooner." The horse wandered away, the man sought them and was lost. The three yegmen came upon the desert ship just at a time when the woman occupant gave birth to a child. Briefly the story tells how these bank robbers, called upon suddenly and unexpectedly to keep the breath of life in the body of the new born babe at the request of the dying mother. The manner in which they fulfilled their pledge is pathetic and thrilling; two of the godfathers losing their lives and the third losing his liberty in their successful placing of the child in the proper hands. In addition to their Fine Art Film will be shown a comedy subject.

Defiance Team Next Attraction at Murphy Park

Defiance will be the attraction at Murphy street park next Sunday afternoon. From reports received from the city in the northern part of the state it is evident that the local club will be forced to go their best to defeat the visitors. They are so much in demand in the larger cities along the lake that the manager of the Defiance club was successful in obtaining a date only after he had tempted them with a big offer. Out of thirteen games played this season the Defiance nine has lost only one contest. The team that was successful in obtaining this one victory over them was the Rail Lights of Toledo, Lima with only two games lost this season and one of them administered by the Rail Lights, should be a good opponent for the Defiance team. The last Sunday in September and the first three in October are being kept open for the Rail Lights. On September it is likely that the locals will play the Industrial league champions, if the Rail Lights select some other date. over its road who talk to farmers, urging them to take up the cultivation of these products, and advise them how to use their grounds to best advantage. NEW RECORDS ON
WALL ST. MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—There was wild trading in the stock market at the opening today and new records were established in several issues. There was an immense crowd in Steel common, first sales of that stock being 10,000 shares from 95 1/4 to 95 with 100 shares at 95 1/4, and the stock then sold up quickly to 96 1/4, an advance of 1 1/4 points over yesterday's final. There was a wide opening in American Locomotive, which sold at 79 1/4 an advance of 2 1/4. Gains of over a point were made in Mexican Petroleum and Industrial Alcohol. Reading continued its upward movement advancing 1/4 to 107 1/4. The munitions stocks were in urgent demand, Crucible steel advancing 1 1/4 to 78 1/4, Baldwin 1/4 to 79 1/4 and Lackawanna steel 1/4 to 78 1/4.

At the end of the first 15 minutes Industrial Alcohol advanced to 117 1/4 a gain in all of 2 1/4.

Marine Preferred advanced 1 1/4 to 103 1/4 and the common a point to 38 1/4.

Trading was less vigorous in the late forenoon, many stocks which had made gains reflecting profit taking and sustaining moderate losses. Nearly 100,000 shares of Steel common were traded in in the first hour, when the stock sold at a new high record of 96 1/4. Bethlehem advanced 1 1/4 points to 480 and then reacted to 475. U. S. STEEL BREAKS
PREVIOUS FIGURES

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—United States Steel Common again broke all previous records when it sold up to 96 1/2 shortly after the opening of the stock market today. The previous high price was 94 7/8, established in 1909. The scene on the floor of the exchange was one of great excitement, trading in the stock being on an enormous scale.

ALLIANCE POLICE
CHIEF GRILLED IN BRIBERY INQUIRY

ALLIANCE, O., Aug. 22.—With the mercury hovering around the 95 mark and the council chamber in the new city hall packed to suffocation, the civil service hearing of Police Chief France, suspended a week ago by Mayor Westover for alleged "immorality and gross irregularities" was resumed today.

The mayor's attorneys introduced additional evidence to show that the accused police head accepted "hush money" for police protection from the admitted vice resorts in the city tangle.

Maud Bowers, admitted resort keeper, who says she contributed $250 to the $1,000 roll which Mayor Westover alleged Dot Williams gave France, said the chief had admitted to her that he had received $1,000.

"Who told you, you could open your house?" asked Attorney Roach for the defendant.

"Dick France telephoned me it was all right to turn the lights on now," she said.

"Did he ever admit that he got the $1,000?"

"Why, yes, he admitted that it was all right and we could open up," Attorney Emmons, for Mayor Westover, was a stickler for accuracy, and he said: "You women have terms which have a meaning all their own, what do you mean by opening up?"

The witness said it meant to conduct her house for immoral traffic as a house of prostitution and the big crowd roared.

Dick Bucklew who lives in what was the "jungle" told of seeing Dot Williams, a madam, hand Chief France $50. "He put it into his pocket and left," Bucklew said.

H. F. VORTKAMP.

URIC ACID—GOING—GOING—GONE. "Anuric" Will Not Fail to Stop Your Backache.

People are realizing more and more every day that the kidneys, just as do the bowels, need to be flushed occasionally. The kidneys are an eliminative organ and are constantly working, separating the poisons from the blood. Under this continual and perpetual action they are apt to congest, and then trouble starts. Uric acid backs up into the system, causing rheumatism, neuralgia, drowsy and many other serious disturbances. Doctor Pierce of Buffalo, New York, advocates that every one should drink plenty of pure water between meals. Every day should exercise in the outdoor air sufficiently to eat profusely, and from time to time stimulate the kidney action by means of "Anuric." This preparation has been thoroughly tried out at his Sanitarium, in the same way as his "Fa-o-ite" Preparation for weak women and "Golden Medical Discovery," the standard herbal system tonic, (both of which now come in tablet form for convenience of carrying and taking). "Anuric" is now being introduced here, and many local people are daily testifying to its perfectness.

When you have backache, dizzy spells or rheumatism, heed nature's warning. It means that you are a victim to uric acid poisoning. Then ask your druggist for "Anuric" and you will very soon become one of the hundreds who daily give their thankful indorsement to this powerful enemy to uric acid.

If you have that tired, worn-out feeling, backache, rheumatism, neuralgia, or if your sleep is disturbed by too frequent urination, get Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets at drug store, full treatment $1.00, or send 10c for trial package to Dr. Pierce, Irtville, Pa. Buffalo, N. Y.

TEN MILLION LIVE ON MANHATTAN AND IN ADJACENT CITIES

New York Holds One-Tenth of Whole Country's Population.

Metropolis Reflects Industrial and Social Conditions of Nation.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—It was recently estimated that there are ten million people in greater New York and its immediate environs. By a simple calculation one of the leading dailies arrives at the conclusion that New York is therefore one-tenth of the whole United States.

This impressive fact suggests that perhaps the importance of New York is being overlooked. This is not only one-tenth of our country, but the tenth by which we are most often judged. A great deal has been written and said about various things in New York, but relatively little about New York as a whole. Comment seems to have been left largely in the hands of a few British authors on lecture tours, who almost invariably confined their observations to the women, the millionaires and the subway.

There is obvious need, then, for a comprehensive and scientific study of New York to determine just what it is, and why. It might be added that this is not the said study, but merely a few tentative suggestions.

First then, New York is money-mad. This has been noticed before, and by other people, and New York has therefore been termed cold, heartless and inhuman. But the reason for this inordinate money-hunger has been overlooked. It is that the city is a wonderful machine for the arousing and stimulating of human want. There is no such thing here as getting enough or being satisfied. However, much you may have, the city is always flaunting in your face what you want and can't get. The man in New York without money is like a kid before a Christmas tree forbidden to touch a thing.

It is the visitor the same way. It is true that all New York lines up along Broadway and Fifth avenue with outstretched paw to relieve the itinerant of every particle of his change. And likewise the man who is here from Muncie, Indiana, on his fall buying trip having sewed up his return trip ticket in the lining of his vest and deposited his watch with the hotel clerk, sets out with the equally piratical intention of getting every bit of fun that he can for his money.

New York is the most provincial place in America. There are more people in New York who have never been anywhere else since they got here than in any other city of the United States. There are more stranger and outlandish modes of dress to be seen on the streets—and most of them are worn by natives. There are more queer dialects spoken. "Wuxtry" for example, meaning that another car line is tied up, and the papers have printed an extra to announce the fact, is a purely indigenous noun to be heard nowhere else in the world.

There is a bar keeper in a Broadway place—and he is not exceptional—who has never been out of greater New York, and seldom more than a mile from Broadway. Compared to such as he, the man who lives on a ranch in Wyoming and goes to Chicago once a year to sell steers is a globe-trotter and a cosmopolite.

New York is a very healthy, active powerful type of the species homo sapiens, despite the allegations about the unwholesomeness of city life. And there is good reason for this. Those who are not fit, either die or migrate. The New Yorker has to be up on his toes and ready every minute of the day. His facility in threading the "hundreds" mazes of his native town show him an athlete and a man or woman—of galvanized nerve. The chap from Sioux City, contemplating an expedition across Broadway at Forty-fifth street, teeters on the curb like a frightened bird, peers up and down and grabs the brim of his hat and makes a lumbering dash for it. The native strolls across with masterly nonchalance, avoids a taxi by a hair's breadth without looking at it, and reaches the other side without having interrupted his conversation with a friend.

Of course poverty and disease take their toll in some sections, but even the crowded east side is nothing like the cartoons in the socialistic magazines. Walk down that way of a fine summer evening. The streets are aswarm with buxom girls, and strapping lads. Ruddy old men in little black skull caps dote before the doors of "Irish" shops. The troops of small boys that play leap frog over the five gallon milk cans on the sidewalk are not a bit less spry and noisy than the ones that grow up in the country, and they are a vast lot sharper.

The New Yorker is strong and healthy because if he was not he would be dead, and he is young and happy of spirit because he is always amused. "Monotony kills as well as bad air, and while some of the air in New York is of all that it might be, there is very little monotony.

New Yorkers of all grades and classes and nationalities are lovers of fun, and they take their fun outdoors. They are fond of excursions and picnics and fishing and swimming. They know the value of open sky and sea breezes as recuperatives and tonics. It is not the native who sweats over a sioe-gin friz in a downtown restaurant these hot nights, while a couple of girls from the Italian quarter in Brooklyn do an amateur Hawaiian dance to the strain of a German orchestra. There are few New Yorkers among the audience at "The Smash-Up" where the plain but substantial husband of the beautiful Henrietta kills the Italian sculptor with a monkey wrench in the third act. The local product, superfluous to add, is not among the passengers of the rubber-neck wagons, who journey to Chinatown, are told about the Elsie Siegel case and the Tong war, see a Chinese baby, and buy a teak-wood collar-button box for 15 cents.

The New Yorker seeks none of these amusements. If you want to find him at play in the summer, take any of the car lines that happen to be running to Rockaway, Manhattan Beach, Long Beach, Fire Island, Sheepshead Bay, or any of the other Long Island watering places. After you get out of Brooklyn you will travel through a great tidal flat where every available bit of waterfront is occupied by little cottages standing on stilts and little wooden hotels and piers and beer gardens. The shallow water is alive with bathers and the winding channels with row boats and launches.

When you get to the beach don a bathing suit and wander forth among the crowd. Now you are with the real New Yorker on a holiday. He is there by the thousand, playing in the surf, tossing ball on the beach, asleep in a hole in the sand with his head pillowed in the lap of his best girl, running and jumping over the life ropes, eating gritty sandwiches and dill pickles in the shade of the board-walk—having the time of his life. You may know it for a real New York crowd by the fact that there are very few Americans present. You may hear squeals of delight and chorales of joy in every accent under the sun. You may see—provided he has not moved since yesterday—a Japanese artist making an oil painting of two German children playing in the edge of the surf while a Russian Jew and some other unidentified kind of foreigner look over his shoulder.

If you are a rustic, say from the woods and marshes of Washington, D. C., you may think to stroll up the beach away from the crowd and commune with nature. You may stroll and trot as far as you will, and hire a jitney and ride, and the crowd is still with you. Long Island is about a hundred miles long and more or less narrow. Compute the circumference for yourself, multiply by any reasonable number, and you may have an idea of how many New Yorkers take their pleasure at the seaside on an average fair Sunday. For as far as you care to go, the Island is frescoed with frolicking, snoring, chattering sand-sprinkled humanity.

What is New York?

Well, anyway, it's interesting.

PENNA R. R. ISSUES BULLETIN ON INFANT PLAGUE EPIDEMIC

The Pennsylvania railroad is the first common carrier to undertake to prevent the spread of infantile paralysis in the country. Yesterday they issued the following bulletin.

"On account of the prevalence of infantile paralysis, additional quarantines are being established daily and quarantine officers at such quarantines will stop all children under 16 years of age not provided with health certificates. It is recommended that certificates be secured from proper health officers for children under 16 years of age before buying transportation to any point. Compliance with this recommendation will save great inconvenience and delay."

Dr. A. J. Jones, city health officer, bearing an epidemic may at any time break out in Lima, has asked parents and guardians to observe the following rules:

Keep your house or apartment absolutely clean. Go over all wood-work daily with a damp cloth. Never allow dry sweeping.

Screen your windows against flies. Do not allow garbage to accumulate. Kill all forms of vermin such as bed-bugs and roaches.

Keep the children in the open air. Pay special attention to body cleanliness. Give your children a bath every day and see that all clothing is clean.

Keep your children by themselves as much as possible. Don't take your children with you when you go shopping. Do not allow your children to be kissed.

WHEN VISITING STRANGE PLACES

It is well to be prepared with a reliable cathartic. Salts and castor oil cannot be taken by many. Foley Cathartic Tablets are wholesome and cleansing, act surely but gently, without griping, pain or nausea. Relieve sick headache, biliousness, bloating, sour stomach, bad breath. Fine for a torpid liver. H. F. Vorkamp.

TRADES THAT MEN CAN LEARN WHILE IN AMERICAN NAVY

Government Lends Hand in Advancement of Young Persons in Service.

Technical Courses Offered to Those Who Are Willing to Learn.

Uncle Sam is anxious to lend a helping hand to the young men in his employ and give them a boost toward better things in his service and toward a higher place in civil life. With this end in view the navy department maintains schools in more than a dozen trades which are open to men who enlist for service on war ships. The schools not only serve as a medium for a sailor to advance himself in the navy but equip him to earn a good wage if he returns to civil life.

Courses are offered to those willing to learn in electrical engineering, to the artificer, yeoman, hospital service, musician, commissary, machinist, coppersmith, aeronautics and seaman gunner departments. Hundreds of young men who enter the navy take these courses, and through the work done while they are under pay gain advancement in the service and provide for the time when they return to civil life.

Electrical schools are located at the Brooklyn and Mare Island navy yards. They are divided into two classes, general and radio. The length of the course for both classes is eight months, and students, either recruits or men from general service, may enter at any time. In order that a recruit may enlist for the electrical branch he must have a knowledge of either general electricity or be an operator of the Morse telegraph code or have sufficient foundation in radio telegraphy to be competent to keep up with the classes at school.

General electricians must know the names and uses of the various parts of the dynamo and dynamo engines, and must be familiar with the ordinary types of switchboards and methods of wiring. Applicants for both classes must be able to write legibly, must understand elementary arithmetic and must be between the ages of eighteen and twenty-five.

Requirements in Radio Branch. Applicants for the radio branch must, in addition, pass a creditable examination in spelling and penmanship, and the requirements in arithmetic include multiplication, division, simple proportion, percentage and square root. Testimonials as to good character and skill as an operator must be presented by the candidates either from former employers or from the principal of the trade school where the candidate has been a student in either telegraphy or radio. He must be able to receive 20 words per minute.

Such recruits are immediately transferred to the electrical school, where the course of instruction comprises machine-shop work, reciprocating steam engines, steam-turbine engines, internal-combustion engines, magnetism and electricity; dynamos, motors, motor generators, alternating currents and batteries. Members of the radio class are trained in all the duties of the radio operator and are given constant practice in the use of the mechanism employed in radio receiving and sending.

The artificer school is located at the Norfolk, Va., navy yard and is composed of classes for shipwrights, shipfitters, blacksmiths and painters. The shipfitter class also includes the duties of plumber and fitter. The length of the course is three months for each class, excepting that of shipfitter, which is six months. Recruits are admitted to the various classes of the artificer school, provided they know some one of the trades mentioned, for the course of instruction is not elementary and requires previous knowledge of and aptitude for the trade.

Must Have Some Experience. An applicant for the shipfitter class should have had experience as a metal worker, be able to lay out and work, know how to chop and calk and drive rivets, understand the various rules for drilling and tapping, have some knowledge of plumbing and drainage and be familiar with the required tools and their uses and care.

Applicants for the shipwright class should have some practical experience in carpentry and know the names of the tools used. The instruction is along the line as for shipfitter, with the addition of cooperage, joiner work, repairing boats and spars, taking rooms in wooden decks and cutting throats on bolts with hand files.

For the blacksmith class, a candidate must have had some experience at the trade. He is taught welding in different ways, jumping on pieces, working angle-iron, making shackles, chains, bolts, rivets, mast-bands, eyebolts, rollers, iron work for blocks and all the fittings likely to be required on board ship which would have to be made with a forge. Blacksmiths are also given special instruction in shackling and unshackling chain.

A candidate for painter must have had some experience as a painter and must know the rules for mixing paint and applying it. He is taught painting of iron and woodwork blue and out, cabinet and hardwood work and the mixing of all kinds of paint and stain by the different formulas used in the naval service. He is required to keep a journal, in which he gathers much general useful information on ship-painting generally.

Clerical Work Taught.

The yeoman schools are located at Newport and San Francisco. The yeomen branch performs the clerical work of the navy and a candidate must have had some clerical experience before he is accepted. He must write a legible hand and be a competent typewriter. A knowledge of stenography will aid the candidate in promotion, but if he is not a stenographer at the time of enlistment, he can join a class in stenography after hours. The yeoman school is divided into preliminary classes of instruction, the supply officer department, the executive officer department, the pay-officer department and the commanding-officer department. In each of these the students are taught the various duties they will have to perform in each individual department. Each of these classes is five weeks in length.

The training schools for the hospital corps are at Newport and San Francisco also. Their object is to train new members of the hospital corps by preliminary instruction in their duties in the care of the sick and injured of the navy. The course consists of elementary instruction in the following subjects: Anatomy and physiology, nursing, first aid and emergency surgery, operating room and surgical technique, hygiene and sanitation, diet, foods, cooking, mess management, pharmacy, materia medica and toxicology, medicines and medical agents of the United States Naval Supply Table, chemistry, hospital duties, ward management and clerical duties.

An eight months' course for musicians is held at Norfolk and San Francisco white schools for ships' cooks, bakers and commissary stewards are located at San Francisco and Newport. In each of the latter classes the course is six months long.

The machinist school, located at Charleston, S. C., is open only to re-enlisted men under 30 years of age in the ratings of water-tender, oiler and fireman, first class. Recruits are not admitted to the school. The length of the course is 16 months and the students are given a thorough course in the knowledge of the machinist trade. Instruction in gasoline engines is also given in connection with the machinist school. This class is limited to 20 men and a class is formed every three months.

Re-Enlisted Men in Torpedo School. The coppersmith school, open only to re-enlisted men, is at Charleston and is six months long. The seaman gunner school is at Newport, R. I., and is known as the torpedo class. It is open only to re-enlisted men under 30 years of age. The classes continue for eight months. A special class for machinists' mates is located at the torpedo station for the instruction of re-enlisted men in the duties of machinists' mates, "torpedo." The school for diving also is located at the torpedo station at Newport for instruction in deep-sea diving.

A school for the instruction of men flying is located at Pensacola, Fla. Classes are formed every three months, composed of 16 enlisted men of the navy, who are selected for the instruction by their commanding-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet. The course is 18 months long and is divided into two classes—mechanics and flying.

Upon completion of the course, the men are transferred to general service, having received a certificate of qualification, which entitles them to additional pay of 50 per cent while detailed to duty involving actual flying; and, in the event of death from wounds or disease, the result of an aviation accident while engaged in actual flying or in the handling of aircraft, a gratuity is paid the beneficiary amounting to one year's pay at the rate received at the time of the accident. Pensions allowed by law are doubled.

A.M.E. CHURCH SELLS CORNER PROPERTY

D. J. Cable, George Metheny, Frank Kommink and Theodore Michael yesterday purchased the property located at the northeast corner of Spring and Elizabeth streets, for $30,000. Back in 1875, the African Methodist congregation bought the site for $1,600. Their church has been located on the same.

The lot is 100 by 100 feet. The new owners will take possession in a year from now. The congregation will move farther into the residence district, preferring to dispose of their church site because of the valuable amount they could secure for it.

The property has been for sale for some months, but until a sum pleasing to the congregation was secured, they would not close the deal.

START U. S. PROBE OF STATE BANKS

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Aroused by the latest banking scandal in Chicago, the collapse of the Silver institutions—the federal government today took a hand in the investigation. The federal government heretofore has not been drawn into an investigation of private banks, because that is primarily the duty of the state legislature," said District Attorney Cline. "But in view of the large number of recent failures, it is the duty of the government to intervene." The exact losses suffered by thousands of poor depositors were still unknown today, but officials say the total will be approximately $200,000.
